Give him the chance to form congenial acquaintances—under proper

RED CROSS SENDS CHRISTMAS GIFTS TO OUR BOYS ABROAD

War Department Limit Is One Package to Each Man
—Red Cross Notes.

By Hazel V. Carter.

Send a Christmas present to your boy in France.
Christmas may seem a long time off to those of us at home, but in a little over a month now every Christmas package which will reach the boys in France must be on its way.
And here is the Red Cross plan: Christmas packages will be delivered to the American expeditionary forces under an arrangement with the American Red Cross. In order to control a flood of gifts that would hamper their speedy delivery, the War Department has decided that only one package will be accepted for each man. Coupons bearing the name and address of each member of the expeditionary force are being distributed to the men abroad, who will mail them to their nearest office in this country.

"PRIVATE PEAT" FILMED FOR RIVOLI THEATRE

"Private Peat," with Private Harold Peat playing the title role, will be revealed at the Rivoli. The young Canadian was among the first soldiers to reach France, and his experiences at Ypres, St. Julian, Vimy Ridge and other places are transferred to the screen. With the exception of the opening scenes, which are laid in America rather than Canada, the picture version follows the book with absolute fidelity. The grimmest of battle is lightened by a romance which runs through the photoplay. The Allied War Review, the Animated Pictorial and other pictures will also be shown. Madeline L'Esperance and Greek Evans will be the soloists.

A four-year-old girl wandered into the Red Cross Old Clothes Collection station at 15th Street and Lexington Avenue, yesterday, pulled off her beautiful white corduroy coat and deposited it on the counter.
"It's for the poor Belgian babies," muttered she about, she lisped.
When the Captain of the station asked her to go home and get her mother's permission to give the coat, she returned five minutes later with her mother, a huge box full of clothes and the permission to give her "Sunday coat."

The New York County Chapter of the American Red Cross last Thursday night formally opened for service the new headquarters at No. 11 West 10th Street.
The house is a large one, so the club has a reading room, writing room and a large room for dancing, and a laundry. This will be served daily in the afternoon and the members will be allowed to bring their friends. This tea service is under the charge of the Junior League, and will be supervised by Mrs. Willard Straight and Miss Mary Alexander.

The epidemic in influenza, with the added worry entailed by the explosion of Morgan, has put a heavy burden on the New York Chapter of the Red Cross, and a special call has been sent out from the County Headquarters at No. 35 Fifth Avenue for all members to lend a hand.
Workers are greatly needed in the workrooms of the auxiliaries. In these workrooms last week, in addition to the routine production of hospital and refugee garments and surgical dressings, there were made 50,000 influenza masks and 500 pneumonia jackets.
This work is done entirely by volunteers.

In response to the suggestion of Col. Roosevelt that America's fighting men give up their old clothes to be sent to the Belgians and French in occupied territory, nineteen cases of old clothes were sent yesterday to the American Red Cross Collection Committee from Camp Upton. It is expected that more soldiers will follow suit before the drive ends on Wednesday.
Committee headquarters reported that nearly thirty-five tons had been actually weighed. There is still a large amount in the warehouse waiting to be baled.
